19th June. Arrival. Arrival at Marco Polo airport in Venice and transfer to our destination to Campitello di Fassa through the dramatic scenery of the Dolomites.

20th June. Canazei. We set off from Campitello in the morning, with rain expected. Luckily, this never materialised and we had an enjoyable day looking at the flowers in the various habitats that we visited on our walk to Canazei and back.

We had not quite left the village when we met the first of the banks with a riot of colourful plants. We started identifying the commoner ones: the pink Onobrychis montana, blue Salvia pratensis, pink Aster alpinus, white Leucanthemum daisies, Scabiosa dipsacifolia, yellow Rhinanthus and many other lower growing plants such as Acinos alpinus and Thymus serpyllum. Dotted here and there the orange Lilium bulbiferum was beginning to flower.

We then moved to a path through forest with a different habitat. Here we found the bright pink cushions of Rock Soapwort Saponaria ocymoides. It wasn't long before we started finding the first orchids too: Fly Orchid Ophrys insectifera, several spikes of Lesser Butterfly Orchid Platanthera bifolia and then the highlight of the day, Cypripedium calceolus, the Lady's Slipper Orchid, found by Mary-Ann, who had come on the holiday specifically hoping to see it. A search in the woods produced more plants in flower. Growing with it was the delicate Coral-root Orchid, Corallorhiza trifida, minute by comparison but equally fascinating. Other plants of the woodland included One-flowered Wintergreen Moneses uniflora and Whorled Solomon's seal Polygonatum verticillatum.

We came out of the wood into a beautiful sloping meadow, full of blue Salvia pratensis and other flowers. We were in Canazei by now and as it was lunchtime we made our way through the village to a site near the river and had our lunch there, with Nutcrackers flying overhead.

We then crossed to the other side of the river and walked by the edge of a wood, looking for typical woodland plants. We saw Geranium sylvaticum, the lovely Yellow Wood Violet Viola biflora, and Alternate-leaved Golden Saxifrage Chrysosplenium alternifolium, a herbaceous member of the Saxifrage family, looking quite different from other members of this family. Walking in more open areas near the river, we saw more orchids, with more Lady's Slipper, Fragrant Orchid Gymnadenia conopsea and Military Orchid Orchis militaris ending our day.

Butterflies seen during the day included Small Blue, Wood White, Small Tortoiseshell, Comma, Greenveined White and Green Hairstreak. Other notable insects were the curious Scorpion flies, the almost black Chimney Sweeper moth, and Pseudopanthera macularia, a bright yellow and brown day-flying moth.

21st June. Pian. We set off from Campitello, initially revisiting some of yesterday's meadows along the track, where an Apollo butterfly gave us good views by settling on a flower for a long time.

We soon came to the village of Pian, above Campitello where traditional architecture and lifestyle were much in evidence. We were soon joined by a steady stream of cyclists on a marathon cycle race, that were unfortunately to race past us during much of the day. The habitat changed to woodland, where we found more Lady's Slipper and our first Twayblade, as well as both colour varieties of Shrubby Milkwort Polygala chamaebuxus.

A small diversion produced both Spring Gentian Gentiana verna and Trumpet Gentian Gentiana acaulis. We then emerged in to a meadow where orchids were much in evidence: Fragrant Orchid in quantity, together with plenty of Twayblade. We were ready to move on when Nigel called us to show the Dark Vanilla Orchid Nigritella rhellicani he had found. Indeed several spikes of this lovely dark-coloured orchid were hiding in the grass. More excitement was to follow when he also found Round-headed Orchid Traunsteineria globosa, just starting to flower.

Moving higher up, we found a place to have our lunch, after which we slowly made our way back. The curious Centaurea pseudophrygia was seen by the road, and we stopped to look and photograph the butterflies in the meadows. Other plants included Dragonmouth Hornimum pyraneicum, more Moneses uniflora, Sagrifraga paniculata and Silene nutans. Butterflies seen include the Comma and Large Blue.

22nd June. Col Rodela. A fine morning as we set off to catch the cable car up to Col Rodela. As we climbed higher, we could see Alpine Marmots on the slopes below us. At the top the impressive mountain ranges of Sasso Lungo, Marmolada and the Selva mountains towered all around us.

At the top, we set off to explore an area of igneous rock that had bright yellow patches of Androsace vitaliana. Many other interesting plants were also seen here such as Chamois Cress Pritzelaco alpina, Primula minima and two species of Catsfoot or Mountain Everlasting Antennaria diodica and A. alpina growing together. Green cushions of Moss Campion Silene acaulis with grassy foliage and bright pink flowers were much in evidence. Near patches of snow we found the last flowers of two species of Snowbell Soldanella alpina and S. pusilla and also enjoyed good views of White-winged Snowfinch, a real speciality of these high mountains.

Moving down the slope to investigate a new area, we saw Alpine Pasque Fower Pulsatilla alpina of the parsley-leaved apiifolia subspecies. There were many plants of Spring Pasque Flower P. vernalis that had gone over, with just one or two still in good condition. We also found Androsace obtusifolia with small white flowers on long stalks.

We picked up the Frederick Augustus trail which makes its way round the mountain. We were now on Dolomitic limestone and different plants begun to be seen. Ranunculus montanus was the commonest one in the area and we also found R. hybridus, a small plant with a very characteristic leaf. New members of the Fabaceae were also seen including Alpine Clover Trifolium alpinum, Alpine Milkvetch Astragalus alpinus and the lovely Hedysarum hedysaroides. The two Primulas, P. farinosa and P. halleri were common in the turf, and it was interesting to see the differences between the two similar-looking species. Anemone baldensis was particularly common in one small area.

New for the trip was the diminutive Frog Orchid Dactylorhiza viridis, only a few centimetres high which were to be seen in several locations and in colours varying from green to bright purple. Another more obvious orchid was the purple Orchis ovalis dotted over the slopes.

We decided to have lunch in a small rocky area which proved to be quite interesting. We found Mountain Avens Dryas octopetala and John told us about the significance of this plant as a marker for climate change. We also found the white Alpine Butterwort Pinguicula alpine and also a little later its blue cousin, P. leptoceras. On the same rock the famous Edelweiss Leontopodium alpinum was recognised, though not quite flowering. On our return trip we found some fully open flowers on another rock.

23rd June. Pera. Today we boarded our mini-bus for the drive down the valley to Pera. We made our way through the village and then followed a path through forest. New orchids included Common Spotted Orchid Dactylorhiza fuchsii and Bird's-nest Orchid Neottia nidus-avis. Along the path we found German Asphodel Tofieldia calyculata, a curious little plant now placed in the family Tofieldiaceae, commemorating the British botanist Thomas Tofield. On a rock nearby we found the rare Paederota bonarota.

Eventually we emerged into a broad valley with superb flower meadows. A side track by the river allowed us to find Daphne striata, Cardamine opizii, Alpine Catchfly Silene alpestris, Nottingham Catchfly S. nutans, Green-flowered Wintergreen Pyrola chlorantha and Scrophularia canina.

Papaver rhaeticum, the beautiful pale Yellow Alpine Poppy was growing by the stream where we had lunch. Alpine Toadflax Linaria alpina, with its extraordinary colours of purple and yellow preferred to grow on bare scree slopes. Hairy Alpenrose Rhododendron hirsutum was added to the list of plants seen. Kernera saxatilis, a member of the Brassicaceae with a basal rosette and a branched inflorescence of white flowers and round pods, was found growing on a rock.

24th June. Rosengarden. We boarded our mini-bus once more for the journey down the valley to Vigo di Fassa where we took the cable car up to Rosengarden. The forecast was for rain again, but this came during the night and it had cleared up by the morning.

We first explored a path where we saw more Gentiana acaulis, then set off towards Gardecia. We saw woodland plants such as Wood Sorrel Oxalis acetocella, Yellow Wood Violet Viola biflora, Alpine Honeysuckle Lonicera alpigena, Arolla Pine Pinus cembra with five needles, Round-leaved Saxifrage Saxifraga rotundifolia in bud, Herb Paris Paris quadrifolia, Snow Buttercup Ranunculus nivalis, Cowberry Vaccinium vitis-idaea, Net-leaved Willow Salix reticulata, and more Yellow Alpine Poppy at the end of walk.

Common Treecreeper, Ring Ouzel and Common Redstart were seen during the day, and an Alpine Heath posed for us to take photographs.

25th June. Campitello. Cloudy with intermittent rain as we set off to visit the meadows above Campitello.

Orchids were much in evidence with Burnt-tip Orchid Orchis ustulata and more Round-headed Orchids Traunsteinera globosa. Spiked Bellflower Campanula spicata and White Stonecrop Sedum album were growing on a bank.

As it became increasingly wet, with Roman Snails out in force, we decided to return to the hotel for coffee and lunch.

With the afternoon weather improved, we went down by the river looking at the woodland and riverside plants: Alpine Clematis Clematis alpina, Dark Columbine Aquilegia atrata, the white-flowered Aconite-leaved Buttercup Ranunculus aconitifolius, Goatsbeard Spiraea Aruncus dioicus, May Lily Mainthemum bifolium, the lovely Dragonsmouth Horminum pyrenaicum, Intermediate Wintergreen Pyrola media and the related Nodding Wintergreen Orthillia secunda, Martagon Lily Lilium martagon in bud, Haquet's Lousewort Pedicularis hacquetii, a strikingly tall plant with foliose bracts, and plenty of ferns.

26th June. Overnight rain cleared up on our last day in the Dolomites: with an hour or so in the morning before our transport arrived we set off from our hotel on the road to Val Duron. We enjoyed Fly Orchid and yet more Lady's Slipper in very good condition. Heading back to the hotel, some small flower spikes were spotted in deep shade under trees; although they were only in bud, the grouping of many together suggested Creeping Lady's Tresses Goodyera repens.

And so we bid farewell to the Hotel Fiorenza and boarded our mini-bus to travel once more through the dramatic valleys of the Dolomites towards the airport in Venice and our flights home.
