CEVENNES & GRANDS CAUSSES

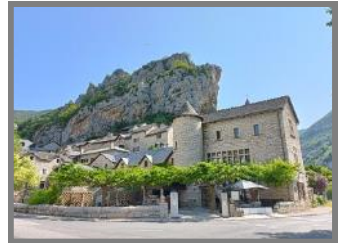

wildlife and flowers in southern France (by train)

A relaxed week of wild flowers and country walks, exploring the Cevennes National Park and Parc Naturel des Grands Causses, in southern France.

From the rolling limestone plateaux of the Grands Causses, with their deep-cut gorges to the more rugged granite landscape of the Cevennes, the area has much to offer the naturalist. Butterflies include a variety of blues and fritillaries, coppers and heaths, with Nightingales serenading from every bush, Eurasian Griffon vultures and various other raptors circling overhead and Western Green Lizards scuttling off through the undergrowth.

The twin parks of the Cevennes and Grands Causses are particularly rich botanically, and our visit is timed to make the most of the wonderful spring flowers. Most notable is the area's orchid diversity, with 30 or more orchids possible during our visit. The two endemics, Aymonin's Orchid Ophrys insectifera subsp aymoninii and Aveyron Orchid Ophrys sphegodes subsp aveyronensis, which will no doubt feature high on our list of finds during the week, along with Lizard Orchid, Military Orchid and Burnt-tip Orchid in large numbers. The steppe-like grasslands of the Grands Causses are full of wild flowers, with White and Hoary Rock-rose, Pasque Flowers, Alpine Aster, Poet's Narcissus and Wild Tulip all adding splashes of colour.

We will take daily excursions to explore the various habitats and hidden corners of the area, from the limestone grasslands to the deep river gorges. We will visit one of the area's spectacular caves, enjoy a relaxing boat trip along the River Tarn beneath towering cliffs, visit a restored Templar village, and learn about local conservation projects for all four European vulture species and the endangered Przewalski's Horse, a Mongolian species being 'rewilded' on the Causse Mejean.

ITINERARY

Please note that the itinerary may be changed to suit the weather or other practicalities or at the discretion of the leaders.

Day 1 Mon 26th May After travelling via Eurostar to Paris and then on to Nimes by TGV, we head west into the Cevennes National Park, (c 2hrs), where we will arrive at our hotel in time for a late dinner. Overnight near Florac (five nights).

Day 2 Tue 27th May A gentle start, after yesterday's travel day, will see us heading a little way north from our hotel for our first introduction to the landscapes of the Cevennes and Grand Causses, as we explore the pine woodlands, grassy steppe and gentle hills. Western Bonelli's Warblers sing from the trees, with our first Small Blue and Heath Fritillaries on the wing. Our introduction to the wild flowers of the Cevennes should include Aster alpinus, Carthamus mitissimus and orchids including Elder-flowered, Burnt-tip and Fragrant Orchid, and we will find intriguing, prehistoric menhirs on the hilltops.

Day 3 Wed 28th May On the edge of the Causse Mejean, we will spend today amongst the limestone karst of the Nimes le Vieux. Rock Thrush and Rock Sparrow nest amongst the rocks, Early Purple Orchid and Woodcock Orchids can be found in the shaded corners, with the endemic Cevennes Saxifrage growing on the limestone pillars.

In the afternoon we will have some time to spend in the small town of Florac, where Dipper nest on the river and we can visit the National Park visitor centre.

Day 4 Thu 29th May We head into the heart of the Causse Mejean, where our walk will take us across the wide expanses of the steppe-like grasslands on the plateau, dominated by the beautiful Stipa pennata. Amongst the many flowers, the endemic Aymonin's Orchid Ophrys insectifera subsp aymoninii can be found in good numbers.

Day 5 Fri 30th May Today we will visit the Causse Mejean. At our first stop, we will visit the TAKH project, where a population of free-roaming endangered Przewalski's Horse is being prepared for reintroduction to their wild Mongolian homeland.

We will visit the spectacular cave at Aven Armand, and then travel to the Jonte Gorge where we will look for all four European species of vulture, and learn about the local reintroduction projects that have restored these magnificent birds to the area.

We will end the day with a leisurely boat trip along the River Tarn, travelling through the most spectacular part of the gorge.

Day 6 Sat 31st May We set off southwards today. We will head up to Mont Aigoual, the highest point in the Cevennes with (weather permitting) views all the way down to the Mediterranean, and Wild Tulips flowering along the roadsides. From here we carry on south to our next hotel, on the Causse du Larzac, where Nightingales sing in the garden. After settling in to our rooms, we will have some time to visit the nearby restored Templar village of La Couvertoirade. o/n near Sauclieres (two nights).

Day 7 Sun 1st June A short journey north of our hotel, we will explore a quiet valley on the edge of the Causse Larzac. The grassland on the limestone is notably rich in orchids, with the locally endemic Aveyron Orchid Ophrys sphegodes subsp aveyronensis present in good numbers, alongside some ten or more other species.

Day 8 Mon 2nd June After breakfast, we head to Montpellier and our train home.

Health and fitness

On several days, we are walking for much of the day, albeit at a relatively slow pace. The day walks are mostly circular walks, between 3 and 6 miles, with some rougher ground and some slopes, both up and down. Walking boots (e.g. lightweight) are essential. The pace will be relaxed, with plenty of time to enjoy the surroundings and enjoy the wildlife along the way. If you are a slow walker, please contact us to discuss whether any of the walks will be a problem for you. You must be able to lift your own luggage on and off of the trains.

Accommodation, meals and transport

We will be staying at two comfortable, family-run local hotels. All rooms are en-suite. Our evening meals will be taken in the hotel restaurant. We will take picnic lunches out with us every day.

For our daily excursions, we will travel by small coach or minibus.

Leaders

Philip Precey is a Director of Wildlife Travel who has led many of our trips in recent years, including our 2022 and 2023 visits to the Cevennes.

Depending on final group size, Philip will be joined by a second Wildlife Travel leader.

Weather

At this time of year the weather should hopefully be warm and sunny, with average temperatures around 20° C. As with everywhere, the weather is less predictable now than it used to be, and there may be cooler or hotter weather and some rain. We will do our best to adapt our walks and excursions accordingly.
